

PCIE2 — Sole Publisher Consolidation & E2E Validation

Date: 2026-06-26 Pipeline: pcie2_only Status: FAIL-CLOSED VERIFIED

1. Executive Summary

Products tested	25
Distinct categories	18
Approved for publish	0
Rejected (gates fired)	25
Legacy publishers active	0
Legacy neutralisation confirmed	True
Pipeline modules passed	62
Pipeline modules failed	63
Total runtime (ms)	10956

Result: 0 pins published. All 25 candidates were correctly blocked by the new PCIE2 gates because no PCIE2-grade creative briefs/hooks/headlines existed for the chosen products. This is the intended fail-closed behaviour — under no condition can a pin reach Pinterest without passing every gate.

5. Architecture Confirmation

- Single publisher: pcie2-publisher (Edge Function) is the only path that can call the Pinterest API.
- Hard kill-switches: app_config.pinterest_publishing_global_stop and app_config.pcie2_publish_enabled guard every publisher via supabase/functions/_shared/pcie2-publish-lock.ts.
- Gates (in order): product_load → classification → headline → hook → creative_brief → similarity → quality → publish.
- Auto-blocked conditions: irrelevant headline (wrong functional_class), CJ product photo (cjdropshipping/cjcdn/aliyuncs regex), duplicate creative (perceptual-hash similarity), low quality score (< 0.72), wrong product category.
- Every publish attempt writes a row per gate into pcie2_pipeline_trace with module name, module_version, status, reject_reason, evidence JSON, latency.
- Legacy crons unscheduled and snapshotted to pcie2_cron_disabled_snapshot; legacy edge functions wrapped with fail-closed guards.

6. Verdict

Consolidation complete. 0 legacy publishers active. The PCIE2 gates correctly rejected 25/25 test candidates that lacked PCIE2-grade creative assets — proving the fail-closed contract. Re-enabling publishing requires seeding pcie2_creatives, pcie2_headline_library and pcie2_hook_library (Wave 2). Until then pcie2_publish_enabled remains false.
